Among the interesting new things at The Hobart Historical Society Museum are two glass photographic plates which were taken between 1885 and 1895 by Dr. Edward Bass, the grandfather of Mrs. Wilbur Taylor of Hobart. These prints, made from the plates, at the HOBART GAZETTE this week, were taken by the doctor of his wife and daughter in a posed portrait and one of his daughter with her toys. The daughter was well known in Hobart before her death a few years ago. She was Everetta Clark one of the revered founders of the Hobart AAUW.

Other plates of Dr. Bass' creation are in the files of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin where he practiced medicine in Montello for many years. Others have been exhibited in the Museum of Modern Arts in New York City. The plates in the Hobart Museum have been donated by Mrs. Taylor.
